PUBLIC CONDUIT MAYOR'S DESIRE

Will Recommend Its Construction To Council

Says He Will Sign Pole Rental Ordinance as Soon as It Is Presented.

MANY POLES WILL COME DOWN.

A conduit owned by the city and leased to the telephone, telegraph and electric lighting companies, is one dream of Mayor Yeiser, and he expects to suggest the proposition to the next general council, probably in his annual message.

This statement was made by him this morning when the pole rental ordinance was mentioned.

"I do not hesitate to say that I shall sign that ordinance," said the mayor. "I was instrumental in getting it introduced. It provides for an annual rental of $2 for each pole used to string wires for telephone and telegraph companies. The street railway company is not affected."

"The law has gone clear to the supreme court of the United States and stood the test. This is not a license tax, but rental for the use of the streets. Our ordinance is identical with that of Memphis."

The probable rental to be derived from this source has not been computed, but a glance at the myriads of poles that stand on the streets of Paducah satisfies one that the city will derive a large income from this source, if all the poles are continued. The board of public works for the last year has been weeding them out, or at least retarding their accumulation, and compelling the telephone and telegraph companies to join with the city in the use of poles wherever practicable.

The belief is that the number of poles in the residence sections will be cut in half, by the four companies doubling up, and conduits will be found cheaper down town.

This is where Mayor Yeiser's advance idea comes in.

"The plan has worked elsewhere satisfactorily," he said. "The idea is not entirely for profit, but by charging a moderate rental for the conduit service we could get the dangerous and unsightly overhead wires and poles out of sight and in the course of time pay for the improvement. The city would use the conduits for electric light wires and police and fire telegraph wires."

Threat at Marion.

Marion, Ky., Dec. 7.—This town was thrown into a feverish state of excitement today by the announcement that Dr. R. L. Moore, who operates a large tobacco stemmery here, had received a letter written in a disguised hand and warning him not to receive any more tobacco. The letter is said to have been signed, "Night Riders," and was mailed at Princeton, Ky.

Tapped Water Pipe.

When the new boilers were lowered into the cellar of the Illinois Central depot several weeks ago, a long iron rod was driven into the ground through the depot platform to act as an anchor for the ropes. It went through a water pipe causing a leak. The water percolated into the cellar and a steam siphon was installed to keep the cellar dry. Today excavations are being made to find the leak.

To Save the Children.

New York, Dec. 7.—Fearing wholesale poisoning of children by candy, the city authorities are trying to prevent the glucose trust from shipping here from Philadelphia, tons of glucose which the trust virtually admits may have been responsible for the death of women and children from ingredients used in manufacturing it.

Della Pitman filed suit against Riley Pitman for divorce alleging mistreatment and the wasting of her estate. The custody of their three children is asked for the wife, and $20 a month alimony. The two were married in August, 1892, and separated October, 1905.

In Bankruptcy.

E. W. Bagby, referee in bankruptcy, has ordered William Schroeder to pay into the bankruptcy court $152.74 paid to him in the state court in a suit brought against Henry A. Douglas, bankrupt. The money is to be distributed among creditors in the bankruptcy court.

The dedication was attended only by members of the order. The ceremonies were closed about 6:30 o'clock. They were conducted by Exalted Ruler R. T. Lightfoot. At 8:30 o'clock, the social session began lasting until midnight. The banquet was one of the most elaborate ever given in the city.

Judge Cross issued warning orders and gave them a day of grace. Tomorrow he expects to have several of them before him, some having declared they would not pay when approached by the license inspector. They are doctors, lawyers and a few merchants.

Marlborough Troubles.

London, Dec. 7.—After all the secrecy attending the separation of the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough, it is likely that their affairs may finally be aired in court. There is a well-grounded rumor going around in Mayfair that there is a bitter dispute in progress over the custody of the Marlborough children, and that it may culminate in legal proceedings.

Paris, Dec. 7.—A remarkable scene followed the interpellation of the government on the Moroccan question in the chamber of deputies today by M. Jaurès, the Socialist leader. Count Boni de Castelane unexpectedly ascended the tribune, whereupon half the deputies abruptly left the house.

ILLINOIS BUILDING IS STARTED.

Corner Stone for Structure at Jamestown Exposition Laid.

Norfolk, Va., Dec. 7.—Virginia united with Illinois today in laying the corner stone of the magnificent building of Illinois at the Jamestown exposition grounds. Governor Swanson assisted in the ceremonies, which were witnessed by a large crowd. The Illinois building joins that of the mother state, and the occasion today was particularly fitting. Chairman Humphreys, of the Illinois commission, spoke and was followed by Governor Swanson. Then followed the laying of the corner stone. The Illinois building will be one of the finest on the grounds.

DRAFT DECEIVED PRES. E. REHKOPF

Was His Testimony On Stand This Afternoon

He Did Not Make Out Accounts of Concern—His Examination Is Resumed.

E. Rehkopf, president of the E. Rehkopf Saddlery company, had nothing to do with making out drafts and bills, according to his testimony given this afternoon in the bankruptcy proceedings, and he declared that if any drafts were drawn or accounts made out against firms, which had not purchased the goods from the E. Rehkopf Saddlery company, they were without his knowledge or consent.

Mr. Rehkopf took the stand again this afternoon, and his examination which has already consumed hours was resumed, not a detail escaping the close questioning of both his own attorneys and the attorneys for the other side.

The first thing this afternoon the attorneys went into the assertions of President Thompson of the American German Nation bank, that he had been told certain notes were transferred to the bank to cover drafts drawn on persons who had never bought goods set out in accompanying accounts from the saddlery company. Mr. Rehkopf explained how goods were sold and the books kept, and stated that he had nothing to do with making out drafts or accounts.

As to the fact that he did not write drafts, he was corroborated by the testimony of other witnesses.

As to the fact that drafts were not forwarded by the bank for collection, Mr. Rehkopf testified that they were deposited there simply as collateral security and not for collection, and were redeemed from time to time, his own testimony and that of President Thompson being to the effect that settlements were made on Saturdays.

His Examination.

Being examined by Attorney J. S. Ross, Mr. Rehkopf said he had nothing to do with keeping the books and making out drafts. He is not capable of keeping a set of books. He said he took the mail to the office in the morning and the orders were handled in the office. Drafts were brought to him to be signed.

The question was asked: "Did you ever sign a draft as president on a party when you knew the party did not owe the money?"

He answered: "I never did."

He was asked if he had ever authorized any one to prepare a draft on a party when he knew the party did not owe the money.

He replied: "No."

To the question if he ever allowed a draft to go out of the office bearing his signature when he knew the party on whom it was drawn did not owe the money, he replied:

"Not if I knew it."

He was asked if he investigated every draft brought to him for signature, and he said:

"No, not until I learned that a bad one had been sent out. Then a lot were brought for me to sign and I refused to sign them."

He was asked what he did when he learned of this.

"Well, I told Mr. Thompson," he said.

Ross—"What did you do?"

Rehkopf—"I tried to make it good."

Ross—"What effort did you make to make it good?"

Rehkopf—"At one time I took out the bank which Mr. Thompson agreed to take. But he backed out and refused them. The notes were for $6,000."

He said he put up warehouse receipts for leather as security finally.

He first learned about the drafts being bad a short time before his as-

HENDERSON WANTS IMMIGRANTS.

Henderson, Ky., Dec. 7.—The Henderson Commercial club is in communication with the department of commerce and labor in Washington for the purpose of importing immigrants for labor in mines and other industries around Henderson. The foreign population in this section is very small and efforts will be made to secure a large number of the right sort of immigrants.

There is only one kind of a newspaper circulation statement that is worth any consideration and that is the daily detailed statement. The Sun is the only Paducah paper printing such a statement.

NEWSPAPER SLEUTH.

Dayton, O., Dec. 7.—David Curtis, arrested early this morning, confessed to Coroner Kline that he murdered Dora Gilman, whose mutilated body was found on the commons here a short time ago. The evidence against Curtis was worked up by a correspondent of the Cincinnati Post after officials had practically abandoned the case. Curtis is a white man, and gave a detailed account of how he assaulted, and strangled girl.

POPE'S PHYSICIAN DIES.

Rome, Dec. 7.—Dr. Lapponi, the pope's personal physician, died this morning. Pope Pius is grief-stricken because of the death of his friend and has invoked a special blessing for him. His Advice To Rivers And Harbors Congress

Suggestion Is Made That General Appropriation Be Sought for the Work.

NEW OFFICERS ARE ELECTED

Washington, Dec. 7.—An appropriation bill by congress of at least $50,000,000 annually, for the improvement of rivers and harbors was the keynote of speeches delivered before the national river and harbors convention here. At the morning session an address was made by Harvey L. Goulder, president of the congress. Speaker Cannon and Chairman Burton, of the house committee on rivers and harbors.

Goulder advocated the development of public sentiment in favor of increased annual appropriations for internal waterway improvement. Speaker Cannon warned the delegates not to expect too much from congress "for," he said "too much cannot be done at one time. Do the most important thing first, and concentrate upon it, and then take up the next most important things."

Burton said the convention should not ask for appropriations from congress for any particular community, but for the greater projects of the country. He thought less should be spent on the navy and more for improvement of rivers and harbors.

At the afternoon session the principal features were the report of the committee on reorganization and the announcement of the committees. Speeches were made by a number of prominent delegates.

The congress last night elected: President, Representative Joseph E. Ransdell, of Louisiana; secretary and treasurer, J. F. Ellison, of Cincinnati. O. The board of directors includes Lawrence M. Jones, president of the Missouri River Improvement association of Kansas City, Mo.; Thomas M. Wilkinson, of Burlington, Ia., and James H. Davidson, of Oskosh, Wis.

I. C. PAYS THE STATE $600,102.

Amount Turned in Is Largest for Any Six Months' Period.

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 7.—The state treasury was enriched today by $600,102, paid by the Illinois Central railroad. This amount is 7 per cent of the gross earnings of the road for the six months ending October 31, 1906, on its charter lines. The payment made today is the largest for any six months' period.

By December 15 most of the traveling men will have quit the road and they do not get started back good until January 15. In this interim it is expected to complete the work. It will be all inside work and can be rushed ahead. The principal problem will be in moving the elevator from the rear to the front of the building.

The proposed changes have been outlined before in The Sun. With the annex being built on the south side of Broadway, the hotel will have a capacity of 48 rooms. The present capacity is 25 rooms.

Ruling As To Label On Blended Goods Submitted

Plural and Singular Both Are Misnomers In Regard to the Goods.

THE WORDING OF THE LABELS

Washington, Dec. 7.—Secretary of Agriculture Wilson today made the following statement in relation to blended whiskies:

"Many letters are received by the department making inquiries concerning the proper method of labeling blended whisky. Manufacturers are anxious to know under what condition the words 'blended whisky' or 'whiskies' may be used. The following quotation from one of these letters presents a particular case of a definite character: 'On account of the uncertainty prevailing in our trade at the present time as to how to proceed under the pure food law and regulations regarding what will be considered a blend of whiskies, I am taking the liberty of expressing to you today two samples of whisky made up as follows: Sample A contains 51 per cent of Bourbon whisky and 49 per cent of neutral spirits. In this sample a small amount of burnt sugar is used for coloring and a small amount of prune juice is used for flavoring, neither of which increase the volume to any great extent.'

"Sample B contains 51 per cent of neutral spirits and 49 per cent of Bourbon whisky. Burnt sugar is used for coloring and prune juice for flavoring, neither of which increase the volume to any great extent."

"The question presented is whether neutral spirits may be added to Bourbon whisky in varying quantities, colored and flavored, and the resulting mixture to be labeled 'blended whiskies.' To permit the use of the word 'whiskies' in the described mixture is to admit that flavor and color can be added to neutral spirits and the resulting mixture be labeled 'whisky.'

"The department is of the opinion that the mixtures presented cannot legally be labeled either unbottled whiskies or blended whisky."

Men are practical creatures and care little for the fanciful gifts that women enjoy. Hence, make the present you intend to give your husband, father or sweetheart something of a practical nature. Below we make a few happy suggestions along this line, with the price of each article. Shop, see the prices in other stores, then see us.

His Ear.

A member of the Philadelphia bar tells of a queer old character in Altona who for a long time was the judge of a police court in the town.

On one occasion, during a session of his court, there was such an amount of conversation and laughter in the court room that his honor became very angry and confused. Suddenly, in great wrath, he shouted:

"Silence, here! We have decided about a dozen cases this morning, and I haven't heard a word of one of them!"—Harper's Weekly.

Daily Thought.
"Self-respect saves from doing many things that seem allowable in the codes of men."

HARLAN DECLARES HIMSELF.

Justice Harlan's decision not to be a candidate for governor of Kentucky will bring keen regret to all good men of the party, not because the race is hopeless without him, but because the very excellence of the prospect of success makes the loss of the most available candidate felt the more. Justice Harlan possessed but one drawback; his age. It is no disqualification, but it undoubtedly caused him to hesitate at the idea of plunging into the activity of a long political campaign. Since he has decided, the party must look for the next most available man. There are plenty more men in the state just as capable of administering the office of governor as Justice Harlan, and probably men who, as the campaign progresses may prove their qualities of leadership the equal of the greatest.

There would have been no doubt of the loyal and undivided support of the party as a whole had Justice Harlan been the candidate. Hence the sigh breathing editorials in the Democratic press of the state following his declaration. We will see no more candidates boomed by the Democrats now that Justice Harlan is out of the way. This may prove beneficial to the party. Democratic interest in Republican affairs have not always been conducive to the most cordial harmony. Possibly the Republicans can choose their own candidate without any help from outside.

The exigencies of the situation fraught as they are with the hopes of victory such as never before rested on Republican arms, demand a man free from factional influences and record; one accounted for battle on the hustings; and above all, one capable of doing honor to the state when once elected.

Turning from the vain hope of Justice Harlan The Sun's choice once more falls on the man from western Kentucky, as the best equipped to make the race. There is none surpassing Judge James Breathitt, of Hopkinsville, in the oratorical ability, sound judgment and political honor.

How unfortunate it was that some carefree visitor, courteously allowed to examine the contents of tubes in the laboratory, should have confused the cholera serum and bubonic plague germs used for experimenting on prisoners at Bilbil, Philippine Islands, and caused the death of ten subjects of Dr. R. P. Strong, thus wasting matter he had been at great pains and expense to possess and killing the prisoners almost wantonly without any resulting benefit to science. The plague and cholera germs, we are told, are quite similar, and it is possible that the visitor made a natural mistake, but it is extremely annoying, no doubt, to Dr. Strong, who is said to have exhibited considerable embarrassment when autopsies revealed the truth. It is even intimated that he may resign. Dr. Strong should not take a little accident like that so much to heart. Of course, the experiment has demonstrated nothing as to the quality of his cholera serum, but the efficacy of his plague germs is established beyond question. Although it may be impossible to distinguish the serum from the germs in the tube, if he continues the practice of inoculating prisoners, followed in the natural course with an autopsy, keeping a careful record of each case, the final result is bound to be a clear demonstration of the relative merits of cholera serum and bubonic plague germs.

We entertain a doubt, oh, such a gloomy sort of doubt, that the president of the United States will be able to frighten the school trustees of San Francisco into doing anything contrary to the sentiment of their constituents; but we do hazard the prediction that President Roosevelt's deliverance on the subject of Japanese exclusion from the white schools of the Golden Gate, will result in an increased appropriation for the navy.

Bischoff, another of Louisville's condemned murderers, has been declared insane. Louisville lets her murderers go so long without hanging that the confinement drives the brutes insane. This last fellow slew his wife in a cold blooded manner. He was tried and convicted of murder and sentenced to be hanged. There seemed to be no question as to his sanity at the time of his trial.

The reappointment of City Auditor Alex Kirkland by Mayor Yeiser meets with the approval of everybody who has business with the auditor's office. Mr. Kirkland is obliging as well as efficient, and efficient as well as obliging. Obtaining information from his office is always a matter of but a few minutes, and Auditor Kirkland would be missed by city officials if he left the office.

Isn't that just like the impudence of the general council—informed the board of public works that as long as we have a city solicitor capable of giving a rational opinion, no fees will be paid outside law firms.

THE PRICE OF PEACE.

"Will the price of peace develop into a burden too heavy for the world to carry?" is the question suggested by Alfred Pearse's illustration of the increasing cost of maintaining the armies of Europe.

"It is a little known fact that, in the year 1865, the total expenditure of Europe upon armament, both for land and sea, approximated to £88,000,000, which sum, 20 years later, increased by nearly double to £160,000,000," says Mr. Pearse. "In 1895 the amount was £200,000,000. In 1905 the expenditure is estimated to have been £300,000,000. That is to say, the price of peace, in the short space of forty years, has more than trebled. During the period from 1870 to 1895 the expenditure increased £20,000,000 every five years.

It is not difficult to see that if this sort of thing continues Europe will approximate $2,000,000,000 in 1915, and in 1945 will reach the astounding sum of $3,500,000,000.

We have not the figures of the "price of peace" in the United States, but that they have increased very largely is patent to everyone. It will not be surprising, then, unless we, too, have a change for the better in this respect to see the nation stumbling and tottering beneath the weight of a soldier too heavy for the people to bear. Just now Uncle Sam can pick up his soldier and tuck him away comfortably in the hollow of his arm. His weight is not considerable enough to be seriously felt, but if he continues to grow at the present rate it will require only a short period for him to develop an avoidable obesity too heavy for civilian endurance.

It is well—very well—in the face of these figures for public men to advocate international arbitration for disputes instead of the resort to the bayonet; for it is apparent that unless some such substitution is made the world will be unable to carry its fighting machinery.—Commercial Appeal.

Schultz Is Unmoved.

Chicago, Dec. 7.—The attorneys for the defense in the Shea trial today made vigorous efforts to obtain from Joseph Schultz, the witness, who told on direct examination of slugging non-union men, and of throwing acid eggs at horses, an admission that he had been promised certain inducements to plead guilty. Schultz declared, however, that he had made his plea of his free will, and said that he expected to be sent to the penitentiary.

Thomas Molloy.

Eddyville, Dec. 7. (Special).—Thomas Molloy, president of the First National bank of this place, died on Thursday evening at 5:30 o'clock, after a short illness of pneumonia. Mr. Molloy was raised in this county and has been prominent in local politics since a young man, having been elected to the office of circuit clerk of Lyon county for several successive terms. He was 58 years old and is survived by his widow and two children, Mrs. S. R. Glenn and Walter Molloy.

The Undertaker Loses.

At an undertakers' banquet a man in black told a strange experience.

"This experience," he said, "happened to me in '84. It is a thing that I hope won't happen to none of you; if it does, it cost me dear."

I was hired to bury an epileptic of 56 years. He had been rich and the ceremony was a costly one, running well up into the hundreds. Well, gents, in the middle of the ceremony we heard inside the gold-mounted coffin a ripping sound. Scared we opened the coffin and there was the man, alive, tearing the white satin upholstery in despair and fear.

Mr. Gieaves went to Louisville on Wednesday ostensibly to see Miss Thompson who was visiting her brother, Mr. Jesse Thompson, in that city, and their marriage surprised their friends here.

"I went to the heirs. They, in their disappointment, were sore and churlish. They were poor, they said, and their uncle was rich. It wasn't for them to pay."

In fact, though I sued the man who had come back to life, I lost my money. The judge said it wasn't his funeral and he needn't pay for it. There was no use suing the heirs, since they had nothing. I thought of suing the doctor, but him and me throw a good deal of trade in one another's way professionally, and I refrained.

I bet that in every case of the dead coming back to life, the undertaker, if you only knew it, loses his money."—Lincoln Star.

People and Pleasant EventsMiss Emma Thompson and Murray Cabell Married in Memphis.

News of the marriage of Miss Emma Thompson and Mr. Murray F. Cabell, of this city, in Memphis on Wednesday, will come as a surprise to their many friends in Paducah. Miss Thompson has been living in Memphis, and Mr. Cabell who had accepted a lucrative position in St. Louis, went by Memphis to see his fiancee, and the marriage took place then instead of later in the winter as had been intended. The Rev. Dr. Boones, of the Baptist church, performed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Cabell will make their home in St. Louis.

The bride is an attractive and talented young lady, and has lived always in Paducah until recently, where she has a host of friends. She is a daughter of the late James W. Thompson and is a granddaughter of one of Paducah's pioneer citizens, the late Wilson Thompson. Her mother was a Miss Pickens, belonging to the prominent South Carolina family. She died a few years since.

Mr. Cabell is a popular young man and has been connected with the Globe Bank and Trust company of Paducah for four years. He recently accepted a position with a St. Louis banking company. He is a son of Mrs. Sears Cabell, of Madison street, and his father was the late Dr. Sears Cabell, a prominent physician of Henderson. The family have lately made their home in Paducah.

Married in California.
Miss Clausie Sutherland and Mr. William Englehart, both of Paducah, were married Wednesday in Los Angeles, Cal., where the bride had been for several months to regain her health. They will make their home in the west.

Mr. Sutherland is the daughter of R. R. Sutherland, of the fire and police commission board, and is a pretty and popular girl. The groom is a rising young leather worker until recently connected with the Michael Brothers firm of this city.

Mr. Sutherland went west several weeks since to see his daughter and Mr. Englehart accompanied him. Mr. Sutherland is expected home soon.

Thompson-Gleaves.

The marriage of Mr. Leon Gleaves, of this city to Miss Bessie Thompson, of Elkhorn, Ky., took place yesterday at Louisville at the Seelbach hotel.

The Rev. Dr. Kendall was the officiating minister. They arrived in Paducah last night and will reside at 912 Jefferson street.

Mr. Gleaves is the youngest son of Mr. James W. Gleaves, the furniture man. He is connected with the local master mechanic's office of the Illinois Central railroad, and is widely popular in Paducah. His bride has often visited Paducah and has many friends here. She is a daughter of Mr. S. L. Thompson, of Elkhorn, and is a niece of Mr. Leslie Thompson, of Paducah, and Mr. W. L. Thompson of Clarksville. She is of attractive personality and is very popular socially.

Mr. Gleaves went to Louisville on Wednesday ostensibly to see Miss Thompson who was visiting her brother, Mr. Jesse Thompson, in that city, and their marriage surprised their friends here.

AFTER SICKNESS

Our Local Druggist, W. B. McPherson, advises Paducah People to Take Vinol.

The one thing to aid recovery is to give the patients a blood-building and strength restoring tonic, one that will impart new life and strength to every organ in the body.

For this purpose our local druggist, W. B. McPherson says: "Nothing equals Vinol."

Vinol is not a patent medicine but real cod liver preparation which contains besides peptone of iron every one of the body-building, medicinal elements of cod liver oil, actually taken from fresh cods' livers, but without a drop of the nauseating, greasy oil to upset the stomach and retard its work.

Vinol is delicious to take, and acts directly on the stomach, tones up the digestive organs, creates a healthy appetite, makes pure, rich red blood and muscle tissues, and creates strength for every organ in the body.

If Vinol fails to build up the rundown and convalescent, give strength to the aged, cure stomach troubles, hard colds and hanging-on coughs, we cheerfully refund every dollar paid us for it. W. B. McPherson, Druggist.

Relieve Mayor From Irksome Office Hours

Pole Rental Ordinance Goes Through
Under Suspension of Rules—
Fire Limits.

ELECTION MONDAY, DEC. 17TH

Less than one and one-half hours were consumed last night by the board of aldermen in regular session. The business was principally routine and of little importance.

Alderman Earl Palmer was absent.

The minutes of the last regular meeting were adopted.

Mayor Yeiser stated that he received notice of warning from tobacco men that they would hold the city responsible for damages in event of mob violence to their property. He placed two extra men on duty as watchmen. No action was taken.

The report of the milk and meat inspector was filed.

A petition to improve an alley at Third and Harrison streets was referred.

A prayer for an increase of allowance to the Home of the Friendless of $30 per month was presented. The allowance of $100, the $30 increase, was allowed for this month.

A report from the sewer inspector was filed.

Mr. John Copeland, proprietor of a local livery stable, complained of excessive telephone rate taxation. No action was taken.

Mayor Yeiser re-appointed Mr. Alex Kirkland city auditor.

The appointment was ratified.

A prayer from Bradley Bros., alleging that the city scales are not correct, was filed, and relief asked. City Weigher McGuire claims he has made no mistake, and that the scales are correct.

Alderman Farley thought that the scales should be made correct and so kept and if the scales are defective, to get a set that are correct.

The matter was referred to the relief committee.

Mayor Yeiser read a petition from the board of public works asking that the appointments of wharfmaster, marketmaster and sewer inspector be left to the board of public works as the board has control of these department. Opinions of Attorneys Hendrick, Miller & Marble in favor of the board of public works contention was filed with the petition.

On motion of Alderman Bell the board returned the petition, the city having a city solicitor to decide such matters.

The mayor was instructed to make a bond for the appeal of the suits of Marion Lander, Robertson & Gardner and Cornelia Johnson against the city of Paducah.

Mayor Yeiser stated that he would call a meeting for the election of city officers at any time decided on.

President Starks stated he and President George O. McBroom, of the lower board, had agreed on Monday, December 17.

A receipt from Alex Kirkland for the city tax books was filed.

The first committee was instructed to meet at once to open bids and let contract for material with which to build "drying boxes" for fire hose. The total bill is estimated at $500.

The committee was ordered to draft an ordinance extending the fire limits from the river to Seventh street between Monroe and Clark street. The present western limit is Fifth street.

Finance Report.

The report of the treasurer, showing a balance of $44,559.30 November 30, was filed.

Bills and salaries amounting to $22,807.93 were allowed.

The city owes the Journal of Labor $16, and the publication has not paid its license tax. The allowance of the bill was refused.

Ordinances.

Ordinance fixing a license tax of $2 per annum for each telephone or telegraph pole now standing, or to be in the future erected. First passage. The rule was suspended and the ordinance given second passage.

Ordinance making the office of stock policeman, at a salary of $75 per month permanent. First passage. The rule was suspended and the ordinance given second passage.

Ordinance for improved sidewalks on South Fourth street from Norton street to Husbands street. Second passage.

Ordinance repealing the ordinance defining the salary and office hours of the mayor. First passage. The rule was suspended and the measure given second passage.

Miscellaneous Business.

RAILROAD CASE MAY BE IN POINT

Significant Reference In Pres- ident's Message

Judge Walter Evans Holds Law Unconstitutional in Injunction Suit.

WASHINGTON IS NOT SATISFIED.

"I have specifically in view a recent decision by a district judge, leaving railway employees without remedy for violation of a so-called labor statute. It seems an absurdity to permit a single district judge, against what may be the judgment of the immense majority of the colleagues on the bench, to declare a law solemnly enacted by the congress to be 'unconstitutional,' and then to deny to the government the right to have the supreme court definitely decide the question."

The Courier-Journal says:

The above, which is taken from that portion of the president's message treating of the right of appeal in criminal cases, is believed to refer to the decision of Judge Walter Evans in the case of the order of railroad telegraphers against the Louisville & Nashville Railroad company. The case was decided by Judge Evans in favor of the railroad, the decision creating much unfavorable comment at Washington at the time.

Judge Evans Threw Case Out.

With a view to securing an injunction against the Louisville & Nashville Railroad company to keep the road from preventing its employees from joining their union, the Order of Railroad Telegraphers instituted suit in the state court. On motion of James P. Helm, attorney for the defendant, the case was transferred to the federal court. Mr. Helm entered a demurrer to the complaint, which on Saturday, November 17, was sustained by Judge Evans. The effect of the decision was to throw the case out of court.

The principal ground on which Judge Evans sustained the demurrer of Mr. Helm, attorney for the railroad company, was that Section 19, of the act of congress of June 1, 1896, under which the suit was brought, was unconstitutional, and therefore void.

If we all had our just deserts, it might be mighty fashionable to go to jail.

owners for relief from overassessment were referred to the board of tax book supervisors.

The appointment of Joseph Mattison as sexton of Oak Grove cemetery by the joint cemetery committee, was ratified.

Alderman Farley moved that an ordinance be passed, regulating the blowing of steam whistles. Complaint came in specifically from the north side. The motion carried.

City License Inspector George Lehnhardt was instructed to secure warrants against all not having paid a license for 1906.

On motion the board adjourned.

The REFUGEES

By A. CONAN DOYLE,
Author of "The Return of Sherlock Holmes"

Copyright, 1890, by Harper & Brothers

"By my faith," said he, turning to the young American, "we all owe thanks to the prince, but it seems to me, sir, that we are your debtors even more. You have risked your life for my cousin, and but for your cudge Dalbert would have had his blade through me when he had me at a vantage. Your hand, sir! These are things which a man cannot forget."

"Aye, you may well thank him, Amory," broke in the old Huguenot, who had returned after escorting his illustrious guest to the carriage. "He has been raised up as a champion for the afflicted and as a helper for those who are in need."

But their young visitor appeared to be more embarrassed by their thanks than by any of his preceding adventures. The blood flushed to his weather-tanned, clear-cut face, as smooth as that of a boy and yet marked by firmness of lip and shrewdness in the keen blue eyes.

"I have a mother and two sisters over the water," said he diffidently.

"And you honor women for their sake?"

"We always honor women over there. Perhaps it is that we have so few. Over in these old countries you have not learned what it is to be without them. I have felt what a good woman is and how, like the sunshine, she draws out of one's soul all that is purest and best."

"Indeed, the ladies should be very much obliged to monsieur, who is as eloquent as he is brave," said Adele Catinat, who, standing in the open door, had listened to the latter part of his remarks.

"Much of my life has been spent in the woods," said he, "and one speaks so little there that one comes to forget how to do it. It was for this that my father wished me to stay some time in France, for he would not have me grow up a mere trapper and trader."

"And how long do you stop in Paris?" asked the guardsman.

"Until Ephraim Savage, the master of the Golden Rod, my father's ship, comes to me. She has been to Bristol, is now at Rouen and then must go to Bristol again. When she comes back once more Ephraim comes to Paris for me, and it will be time for me to go."

"And how like you Paris? Have you seen the city yet?"

"Only as I journeyed through it yesterday on my way to this house. It is a wondrous place, but I marvel how you can find your way among these thousands of houses."

"Perchance it would be as well that you should have a guide at first," said De Catinat, "so if you have two horses ready in your stables, uncle, our friend and I might shortly ride back to Versailles together, for I have a spell of guard again before many hours are over. Then for some days he might abide with me there, if he will share a soldier's quarters, and so see more than the Rue St. Martin can offer."

"I should be right glad to come out with you, if we may leave all here in safety," said Amos.

"Oh, fear not for that," said the Huguenot. "The order of the Prince of Conde will be as a shield and a buckler to us for many a day. I will order Pierre to saddle the horses."

"After riding some time De Catinat said, "Now, if you will look there in the gap of the trees, you will see the king's new palace of Versailles."

The two young men pulled up their horses and looked down at the wide spreading building in all the beauty of its dazzling whiteness and at the lovely grounds, dotted with fountain and with statue and barred with hedge and with walk stretching away to the dense woods which clustered round them.

They passed through the gateway of the palace, and the broad sweeping drive lay in front of them, dotted with carriages and horsemen. On the gravel walks were many gayly dressed ladies, who strolled among the flower beds or watched the fountains with the sunlight glinting upon their high water sprays. One of these, who had kept her eyes turned upon the gate, came hastening forward the instant that De Catinat appeared. It was Mme. Nanon, the confidante of Mme. de Maintenon.

"I am so pleased to see you, captain," she cried, "and I have waited so patiently. Madame would speak with you. The king comes to her at 3, and we have but twenty minutes. I heard that you had gone to Paris, and so I stationed myself here. Madame has something which she would ask you."

"Then I will come at once. Ah, De Brissac, it is well met!"

A tall, burly officer was passing in the same uniform which De Catinat wore. He turned at once and came smiling toward his comrade.

"Ah, Amory, you have covered a league or two from the dust on your coat!"

MODERN WHALING IS SCIENTIFIC

Company Formed in Seattle to Take Up To Date Outfit for the Business.

WHALE NOT SO PLENTIFUL

Seattle, Wash., Dec. 7.—In order to revive the whaling industry on this coast and to apply it to modern methods, a company has been formed in Seattle with George Boole, of this city, president, and C. C. Cherry, also of this city, one of the directors. Unlike former whaling methods, the company plans to utilize every portion of the great creatures, taking all varieties of them. The old-time whalers hunted the right or sperm whale alone. The Cacheots and Bowhead whales were the most profitable and were sought for their bone and oil.

COMMISSIONER'S SALE.

In pursuance of a judgment of McCracken Circuit Court, rendered at its term, 1906, in the action of Mechanics' Building and Loan Association, plaintiff, against Jessie W. Long, etc., defendant, I will, on Monday, December 16th (about the hour of 10 o'clock a.m.), 1906 (being County Court day), at the Court House door in Paducah, Kentucky, sell to the highest bidder, on a credit of six months, the following described property, viz:

Lot No. 7, in block No. 2, fronting on Clark street, between Ninth and Tenth streets, in the city of Paducah, Kentucky; said lot fronting 43 feet 3 inches on Clark street and extending north from Clark street, on the east side of said lot, 112 feet 4 inches, and on the west side of said lot, extending from said Clark street north 109 feet 8 inches, with the same width of 43 feet 3 inches in rear of north end of said lot, as described in the survey made by J. W. Hopkins, City Engineer, and recorded in County Court Clerk's office; being the same conveyed to Fannie L. Long by Maggie and John McCrae, by deed dated 31st day of March 1894, and of record in deed book No. 49, page 62, in said Clerk's office, to satisfy said judgment, interest and cost.

The oil of the head was bailed out in buckets, and after the whale was thoroughly separated from these two products the remainder was thrown away and the search for more was begun.

In the days when whales were plentiful this method was appropriate. That was the time when 500 vessels made New Bedford their headquarters, and when the total oil catch of that port was 200,000 barrels annually. Now it has dwindled to less than 10,000 barrels annually, and where once from 50 to 300 or 400 ships were seen in the harbor the sight of five is unusual.

The Seattle company intends to make eight different products from the whales. Oil, bone, fertilizer, skeleton bone, glue, leather, whale meat and stearine or tallow are to be had,

Notice to Contractors.

The board of public works will receive bids on Wednesday, December 12, at 3 o'clock for the improvement of Nineteenth street, and Guthrie avenue, from Broadway to the Mayfield road, and Boyd street from Sixth to Seventh, by grading and graveling, as per plans and specifications on file in the city engineer's office, under ordinances governing same.

The purchaser will be required to give bond with approved security, bearing interest at 6 per cent from day of sale, having force of replevin bond, on which execution may issue when due.

WIFE OF ROBBER WHO LIVED HIGH

Romance In The Life of Mrs. Edythe Cloud

Threatened, Abused, Adored and Treated to Banquet by Highwayman She Wed.

TURNS HIM UP TO THE POLICE.

Seattle, Wash., Dec. 7.—"He struck me in the face and threatened to blow my brains out. I'd have had him arrested long ago if I had known the kind of man he is. I'm glad he's behind the bars."

This is the statement made the other night by Mrs. Edythe Cloud, shortly after she had furnished the detectives with information which led to the arrest of her husband, J. C. Cloud, on a charge of highway robbery.

"I'd have left him," she continued, her face flushed with excitement, "but I knew he would kill me. I lived in terror of my life, and I hope they send him to the penitentiary for ten years."

Comelled to shield him, and forced to believe any story he chose to tell her, the wife has lived for months knowing a part of the terrible truth, yet not daring to tell even her mother.

Night after night she has remained at home, shivering with fear while the husband was away. She knew not how he would treat her on his return. She must take the money he brought and ask no questions.

Wine suppers at the Imperial, costly spreads to which friends of the couple were invited, became a fad with the young husband, who suddenly was seized with a mania to be a prodigal which was anything but a prodigality which was anything but a real sport. He spent money with a prodigality which was anything but a prodigality which was anything but a real sport. He earned as a milk wagon driver.

Into this bizarre life Cloud took his handsome wife. He was proud of the girl, loved to dress her well and was pleased when he saw she attracted so much attention because of her beauty. Money seemed to be no object to him, and almost every night he was host at informal luncheons. Only a millionaire could keep the pace which young Cloud set.

Cloud planned a supper and invited his friends, Ross Smith and a young woman, Miss Margaret Pressel, whose home is in Anaheim. With his wife, the quartet secured the upper floor of the cafe and held a revel which eclipsed all previous efforts. Champagne flowed freely and both young men drank too much.

Shortly after midnight Cloud suddenly drew a revolver, and, flourishing it in his wife's face, declared he had a mind to blow her brains out. Several times he flashed the weapon dangerously near to his wife's face and acted in a reckless manner.

After another round of drinks he leaned across the table and in a whispered conversation said to Miss Pressel:

"Edythe told me last night that she never has loved me. She said she can't live with a fellow like me. I'm going to kill her with this gun the first chance I get."

Revelers Turn Hold-Ups.

It was nearly 1 o'clock when Mr. and Mrs. Cloud left the Imperial. Smith and Miss Pressel accompanied them home to 257 South Hill street.

After reaching his home, Cloud, with Smith, left the women and proceeded in the direction of Eighth and Hope streets, where they tried to hold up W. H. Leonard. They did not succeed, and as Leonard ran they

MADE FROM NATIVE ROOTS.

• SAFE AND RELIABLE.

That the roots of many native plants, growing wild in our American forests, possess remarkable properties for the cure of human maladies is well proven. Even the untutored Indian had learned the curative value of some of these and taught the early settlers their uses. The Indian never liked work so he wanted his squaw to get well as soon as possible that she might do the work and let him hunt. Dr. Pierce's "Pills" are not "for show" for that was their great remedy for female weaknesses.

Dr. Pierce uses the same root—called Blue Cohosh—in his "Favorite Prescription," skillfully combined with other agents that make it more effective than any other medicine in curing all the various diseases and painful derangements peculiar to women.

Many afflicted women have been saved from the operating table and the surgeon's knife by the timely use of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Tenderness over the lower pelvic region, with backache, spells of dizziness, faintness, bearing down pains or sharp spasms not to mention the use of "Favorite Prescription" will work marvelous benefit in all such cases, and generally effect a permanent cure if persisted in for a reasonable length of time.

The "Favorite Prescription" is a harmless agent, being wholly prepared from native medicinal roots without a drop of alcohol in its make up whereas all other medicines put up for sale through druggists for woman's peculiar ailments, contain large quantities of spirituous liquors, which are very harmful, especially to delicate women.

"Favorite Prescription" contains neither alcohol nor harmful habit-forming drugs. All its ingredients are printed on pretty bottle wrapper. It is a powerful invigorating tonic, imparting health and strength in particular to the organs distinctly feminine. For weak and sickly women, who are "worn-out," or debilitated, especially for women who work in store, office, or room, who sit at typewriter, sewing machine, or bear heavy household burdens and for nursing mothers. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will prove a priceless benefit because of its health-restoring and strength-giving power.

For constipation, the true, scientific cure is Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. Mild, harmless, yet sure.

Dixie Girl Tonight.

One of the most pleasing comedy dramas of the day, "My Dixie Girl," will be the attraction at The Kentucky theater tonight, introducing a charming southern actress in the title role. The story is full of action, wit, humor and clever dialogue and is as follows: Colonel Dangerneld was a southern planter, whose wife was supposed to have eloped with his cousin, Howard Northcote. After sixteen years elapse, Nancy Sykes, an old hag, who in revenge for the hanging of her son years before, when the colonel sat on the bench, tells him that he bailed by Northcote, she held wife a prisoner until the birth of her child; her reason then giving away, she was thrown in an asylum and the babe taken to the city and raised as a child of fate. She leaves him gloating over his misery. In her absence the child, now a girl of fifteen, finds some papers and jewelry, also, the address of Colonel Dangerfield; which she decides to investigate and arrives at Dangerfield Hall where she is proven to be the colonel's daughter and heiress. Northcote, with the aid of Nancy Sykes' granddaughter Kate, installed in Dangerfield Hall as Dixie's governess, plan to steal the papers that prove Dixie's parentage, but are frustrated by Dixie and young neighbor, Paul, Shelby. Dixie's mother escapes from the asylum, is recaptured and taken to moonshiner's cabin. Northcote then sends Dixie a note, telling her if she will come to the cabin, she will learn something of her mother. Dixie goes and is taken prisoner. While there she meets her mother, who, through the beautiful song "My Old Kentucky Home," regains her memory and a recognition takes place. With the help of Paul they make their escape; Dixie making her perilous swing across the chasm beyond the reach of her enemies, who pursue them until they reach Deadman's Gulch, where Paul throws the bridge. Their enemies unable to follow, conclude they have been dashed below. Northcote then decides to meet the colonel in a duel and kill him by fair means or foul, thus removing the last obstacle, but is prevented by Dixie and an officer who arrests him for the murder of Nancy Sykes.

"A Woman of Mystery."

In offering Miss Courtney Morgan at the Kentucky theater Saturday matinee and night in the Bernhardt success "A Woman of Mystery" Managers Walters and Way feel that they have filled a gap that has long been open.

The public is no longer satisfied in watching a mediocre company, struggling through a series of thrilling situations where the revolver, dirk and club play a conspicuous part; but they want good wholesome drama true to nature and not distorted by unnatural situations. This they have in "A Woman of Mystery." It is a story of a mother fighting for her son, to remove the stigma from his life placed there by her own actions. The scenes are placed in and around the little village of Montata, France, and range from the beautiful garden of M. Lecoure's to the solemn walls of the convent. This is the second of the Bernhardt roles for Miss Morgan to play, she has played the Bernhardt version of Camille in this country.

Charley Grapewin Coming.

As a musical comedy of the present generation "The Awakening of Mr. Pipp" is distinct from similar productions in the simple fact that it is entirely different. The piece is a strange mixture of music, farce, comedy, opera and a slight touch of drama. These elements give it a distinction all its own and it must be admitted that this distinction is interesting and pleasing to study. But above the libretto the music and the scenic effects shines the acting of Charley Grapewin in the title role. It is Mr. Grapewin who is being starred, not the play. It is he who pilots the action of the scenes and sends this strange performance safely through a sea of criticism without
